

The following table contains a detailed analysis of some important medical condition that makes you worry about your health when you read it:

Death	Medicine	Happy Xmas
Going to happen some time	Sounds good to me	Santas watching

Met Éireann said: "Today will be very windy with strong to near gale force and gusty west to northwest winds and gales near coasts. Highs seas on Atlantic coasts with potential for wave overtopping. It will be cloudy and damp for most with outbreaks of rain and drizzle, though a few bright spells will develop in the north and northeast. Highest temperatures of 9 to 12 degrees."

This man is probably up to something cause he has his hood up.
